ABOUT THE INDIA GLOBAL ICT FORUM 2013

This event will showcase the latest research, processes, services and products emerging from the ICT sector in India. These innovations are playing an integral part in shaping India's emergence as a fast-growing and inclusive economy, and the Forum provides an opportunity for international participants to hear from government officials and private sector representatives about their significance. The Forum will explore the relevance of Indian experiences to other parts of the world, and will examine how they can be adapted to other contexts. It also offers opportunities for international private sector representatives to identify partnership opportunities with Indian counterparts in the ICT sector.
